The silver bill will probably have passed before we go to press in some form. It is difficult to ascertain at present, on account of the irregularity of the amendments, what the bill is Probably it has been somewhat improved in its progress through the House. Undertaking to legislate a ficti ful business anyhow.

A new bill is to be introduced to the House providing modes for regulating the election of President and Vice President. It provides that in case of controversies as to the election they shall be decided by the highest judicial authority of the state, whose decision shall be final, subject only to the vote of both Houses of Congress.

The Hon. William Hunter who has served in the State Department for 50 years, and is known to all who have had business in that Department, rcceived a most flattering testimonial of regard on last Thursday. He is now Second Assistant Secretary of State. Early in the morning the main corridor leading to his office and the desks in it were loaded with flowers, and he received a perfect deluge of felicitations, from the President in person, Secretafifueth day of service, and the old Nestor of diplomacy was overwhelmed with congratulations and tendered a complimentary dinner.

The New York Herald says, the following letter addressed by Secretary Sherman to a prominent war Democrat in this city, who was associated with Mr. Sherman in the Thirty-fifth and Thirty-rixth Congresses, forms an interesting addition to the political history of the day. It has been stated in some quarters that Mr. Sherman was auxious to secure the nomination for Governor of Ohio, if he could have been well assured of success, and that doubt as to the result of this year's election in that state made him reluctantly abandon this idea. The letter sets forth very frankly the reasons why the Secretary ignored the effort to make him a candidate this year. It also formally concedes the fact that Mr. Sherman is an aspirant for the Presidential nomination of the Republican party in 1880, and sounds what would be the keynote of the campaign in case the occretary's name should be presented to the country :

THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW .-This most ancient of American Reviews comes to our table fresh and sprightly. It starts out with an unpublished poem of Voltaire, and goes on with a very readable article by Gen. Garfield on 'appropriations and misappropriations; another by Mrs. Stowe; another chapter on the Pacific railroad by Mr. Henry V. Poor, the distinguished compiler of railroad statstics; another chapter on the sacred books of the east by Max Muller, &c., &c., -making a great amount of information in small space.

A paper published at Fayetteville,

N. C., says, Capt. O. H. Blocker of the Revenue Department, stationed in New York, but now on duty for a short time in this state, succeeded in capturing two stills last Saturday night, 17th inst. They were situated in this county in a dense swamp, seven miles east of Fayetteville, and about a mile north of the Clinton road-near the premises of Isham Godwin. About nine hundred gallons of beer or mash were destroyed, but the stills and fixtures were preserved and brought to Fayetteville. The "moonshiners" themselves were not to be found, but the stills are supposed to have been in operation for three or four months This is the first seizure of the kind made in the county since the enforcement of the revenue laws by the government.

WILMINGTON, N. C.,

SUNDAY MORNING, MAY 25, 1879.

Until black-guards and buffoons, who under Darwin's theory of the "selection of the fittest" manage to get into Congress from this state, learn more decency in their speeches, they ought to be rebuked not in their own pot-house style, but in language of righteous indigna-

We are certainly in great danger of being oppressed and terrorized by the army. There are only 30 U.S soldiers in North Carolina. This is one soldier to every 35,666 inhabitants, one to every 1,667 square miles, and one to every 1,066,880 acres. If those 30 soldiers should start out some election morning to intimidate and terrorize 1,071,000 citizens spread over 50,000 square miles, there would be a terrible "oppression." The terror and consternation over the state would be terrific.

The Confederate state debt at tle close of the war was $18,000,000. The interest on that debt at 8 per cent for 14 years would have been $20,160,000, making the total debt on that account of $38,160,000. Add to this $17,531,945, the authorized regular debt of the state when reconstruction occurred, and the interest on same from 1868 at six per cent, (11 years, and $11,571,083) and the total state debt would have been $67,263,028. By considering these facts and figures, any Democrat can see what able financiers their party would have been if they had carried out the full policy of the Democrats.

Here is a nut for the Bourbon Dem. ocrat to crack, presented by that whipper-in for Tilden, Mr. Watterson, of the Louisville Courier-Journal: "The veto power is as conclusive as the legislating power. We cannot constitutionally coerce it. We can only, by a two-thirds vote, set it aside. That two-thirds vote we lack. The Repubcans are perfectly right in saying that a refusal to vote the appropriations is revolutionary. It is more. It is revolution. It is more. It is ruin. It is not to be thought of. Nobody is com mitted to it. Words spoken in debate, in heat, are to be considered as trifles."

That distinguished political historian, the Hon. Walter Steele, has not taken any notice of the information which the Post furnished him in regard to the invasion of the carpet-baggers to this state. He declared that they "swarmed" here like "vultures." We corrected Mr. Steele by showing him by the record that out of 403 chances for office the "swarmed" into the Convention, 17 into both branches of the legislature, 2 into the state executive offices, none " upon the Supreme Court, one upon the Superior Court bench and 5 into Congress. And out of 87 Sheriffs only 8. We also showed him that of all the $19,000,000, ot bonds issued, all were issued to native Democrats, except in two cases. He has not yet informed the House of Representatives of these facts

OF INTEREST TO WILMINGTON.

The North State has an article advocating the Cape Fear and Yadkin railroad which closes as follows:

The slate is fixed now to make North Carolinians hewers of wood and drawers of water for Virginia. Everything has been deflected to Virginia, with a view of taking our substance and leaving us without a city of any commercial importance. The Virginia magnates will make fair promises which they never intend to keep. They think no more of deceiving a poor North Carolinian than they used to do of making their employees take orders for bacon and meal. Let us break up all this by putting our shoulders to the wheel and building the Fayetteville road. Let the people of Fayetteville and Wilmington wake up and push their arms out to Greensboro and Salisbury. We can yet have a North Carolina system Carolina into our own sesport and give us reasonable rates.

HAMPTON AND WINDOM The other day in the Senate, Wade Hampton in consequence of a remark make by Senator Windom rose to a personal explanation. The following is the colloquy which occurred, and which explains itself, leaving but little doubt in anybody's mind which has the right of it:

Mr. Hampton rose to a personal explanation. He said the Senator from Minnesota (Mr. Windom), in his recent put into the Democratic National Platform of 1869 the plank declaring that the reconstruction acts of Congress were fied the Senator did not intend to do a lamb, five loins of yeal, eight capo him injustice.

Mr. Windom said he did not, but during the campaign he saw what purported to be the speech of the Senator, in which the Senator said, "That was my plank in the platform. I wanted that, when they had declared that these pleasant little brochure entitled "forty acts were unconstitutional, revolution-ary and void, I was willing to wait in of Americans, but thinks we love money patience until that party would be and eating.

Mr. Hampton replied he could not say whether he used that language or not; if he did it was in the sense that he approved the words, and repeated that he did not put them into the plat-

SOUTHERN HYPOCRISY.

We mean of course southern Democratic hypocrisy. Nothing is more obvious to a common observer than that the backbone of the southern Democratic party is the old Calhoun doctrine of state rights and secession. Paralyze or take away this spinal column and the party is nothing but a corpse-Break one of these vertebræ and there is absolute death. The Catholic Church might as well expect to maintain its organization with one of its chief dogmas stricken out, as the southern Democratic party without the doctrine of secession. The presbyters could no more survive without the cardinal doctrizes of Calvin, than the so-called Democratic party of the south without the attenuated theories of Calhoun. The whole of this party would be neckbroken and strangled if it should wake up some morning with this shibboleth

And yet the air at the present time is as full of protestations of love of the Union, as was Jeff Davis' parting speech in the Senate of 1861. In Congress these declarations make up the prefaces of their speeches. These hypocritical professions are the thin gauze, the cloak which covers measures which aim at the national life, and the mask which covers the hideous visage of the old monster. This deceptive cloudiness shadows and concealsdangerous schemes as the woods of Birnam covered Mac. Duff's army on its march to Dunsinane. It is only once in a while that the real truth is spoken, and their real plans are acknowledged. The editors of the Caucasian and the Okolona States, and a Mr. Tillman of South Carolina ex- Eaton: press openly and without disguise the real temper of their party. Mr. Tillman may be taken as a fair exponent of Democratic doctrine in the south.

He said the other day: At the worst I hope and believe that a majority of both Houses of Congress will also be Democrats, or at least Conacts will speedily be repealed, which would leave suffrage where it constitutionally belongs-under control of the amendments of the Constitution to be ting those amendments, which would practically destroy negro suffrage as a

This we believe to be an open states ment of what is the purpose of this party in the south. It is indeed only carpet baggers received only 48. Fifteen of a piece with the declarations of Senators Beck, and Blackburn of Kentucky, and even the Democratic Congressional caucus in the early part of the long and acrimonious debate in Congress, which is now about closing. Their measures as proposed are of the same tone in a modified form as that of Mr. Tillman. The question, therefore, before us is, and is to be the old question of secession. It is secession and secession. It of which we with great pains informed is the purpose of the southern wing of the party to undo and obliterate and reverse the results of the war as expressed in the legislation since the war, even extending to the repeal of the late amendments to the Constitution. This appears on all hands, especially within a few days in the speeches of Senators Eaton of Connecticut, and Whyte of Maryland. The result of this course of action will be, if successful, to reopen the same principles which we were combatting in 1861, and which were adjudged to have been settled on the fields of Gettysburg and Appomattox, and in the three last amendments to the Constitution, and in the legislation in pursuance thereof.

The beginning and the end therefore of the next Presidential election cannot be mistaken. The deceptive issues of which the Democrats are availing which will drop the surplus products of themselves, the false drapery and the middle, western and northwestern North | specious paraphernalia in which affairs are enveloped should be brushed away and we should meet the old question in its nakedness. A nation or no nation is the question which the American people will be called upon to decide in 1880. The Constitution as our fathers understood it, the supreme and ultimate authority which they reposed in the national government, must be

Friday May 16. In the Senate, Mr. Eaton of Conn., made a thorough copperhead speech of the old kind, taking the strongest grounds for states rights. To this Mr. Conkling replied evidently to the great discomfiture of Mr. Eaton, but he replied to Mr. Conkling saying that the election laws were unconstitutional.

Mr. Voorhies then spoke in what Mr. Conkling called a "rhetorical outburst," which lacked the quality of originality. Mr. Kernan then closed the day with a long defence of the Democratic caucus

In the House the liquor traffic was discussed, it being upon a resolution providing that all petitions on the subect be referred to a committee of nine.

Mr. Cannon, of Illinois, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported a bill making additional appropriations for the service of the Postoffice Departprinted and recommitted. The bill appropriates $131,900 for the payment of etter carriers for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1880, and $25,000 for the additional salary of letter carriers for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1879. It provides that in cities of less than 75,-000 inhabitants the salary of letter carriers shall be $800, and in cities of more than 75,000 inhabitants letter carriers shall be divided into two classes -one to receive $900, and the other $800 per annum. It also authorizes the employment of letter carriers in cities of not less than 30,000 inhabitants, provided the free delivery in cities where it is now established shall not be affected thereby. The Warner silver coinage bill was then taken up. Several amendments were offered in the direction of loose money, and the House adjourned.

Monday May 19. The Senate took up the legislative appropriation bill when Mr. Blaine addressed the Senate replying to Mr. Eaton and Mr. Hill. We give in full what Mr. Blaine said in reply to Mr.

Mr. Blaine, of Maine, replied to the remarks of Mr. Eaton respecting the views of Daniel Webster on the Constitution of the United States. He said that on a previous occasion the Senator from Connecticut had stated that Mr. Webster had called the Union a Conour political oppressions will cease very | tederation of states; but on Friday the shortly after the inauguration of the Senator said he had not been able to next President. If the President be a find that Mr. Webster used this lan-Democrat, it is reasonably certain that | guage, but that he had called it a compact between the states. The Senator had in his hand when he made his servatives. If so, the reconstruction speech the book of Alexander H. Stephens, entitled "The War between the States." The work should have been called, "The Rebellion against the states. Then, admitting the coerced United States." The Senator derived his facts, if not inspiration, from that valid, the states could attach a property | book, which was mischieveus in title the closing chapter. It was mischievous because it was an absolute tissue of disturbing element in the body politic. deliberate misrepresentations, and it was the more mischievous because it came from a sincere man. Mr. Stepheus had undertaken to show that Mr. Webster had changed his views, and had declared in his Capon Springs speech, in 1851, that the Union was a union of states, founded on a compact. The Senator from Connecticut and those acting with him know the importance of terms, as on them hang the division of the two parties now striving fer the mastery, and the construction of the principles on which the government should be administered—whether the government shall have power to maintain itself, or whether it shall depend for its existence on the states. It would be seen by reference to the "Life of Webster," by Curtis, that Mr. Webster had denied the construction given to his Capon Springs speech. Mr. Webster maintained that the Union was not a league or a confederacy between the people of the states in their sovereign capacity, but a government properly founded on the will of the people with relations between itself and individuals. Mr. Webster did make use of the term 'compact," but said the people of all

The colloquy went on rather miscellaneously, Mr. Blaine giving hot shots all the while.

He then spoke of the distinctive character of the school books of the south, in which principles hostile to the government were inculcated, and he gave the following from one of the southern arithmetics as a case in point the following question from one of the southern arithmetics: "If 10 cowardly journed. Yankees have two days' start, and make eight miles a day, how long will they run before being overtaken by five brave Confederates who are pursuing ment for the fiscal years ending June them at the rate of 10 miles a day?" 30, 1879, and June 30, 1880. Ordered and he referred to an addresss of John S. Prescott, of South Carolina, at the University of Virginia, in which the speaker remarked that the Mayflower was filled with horrors and crime, the Jamestown with freemen, loyal to the country and to God, and saying other things in denunciation of the Mayflower, and in praise of the Jamestown, emigrants.

He quoted from one of Wade Hampton's speeches, and said "the language was either idle rhetoric or a prodigious menace," and in conclusion, he said: The laws to secure fair elections ought not be repealed. The only object in repealing them was to grasp political power. Every step taken by the Demcrats was in the same direction. They want to strike down the Federal and to exalt state power. Other measures are to follow. What they were he did not know. The Republicans would resist, by every constitutional means. and the Democrats, despite the threats of the Senator from Kentucky [Mr. Beck | and the Senator from Connecticut Mr. Eaton, would be obliged to submit in the end. The power of the government was not to be put down by a threat or compulsion by a political party. It failed to be put down by rebellion. It could meet a more serious one, which the Senator from South Carolina seemed to foreshadow.

Then came Senator Vance, but as we shall have occasion perhaps to res fer to his speech, we omit comment now.

Mr. Logan read an extract from a speech of the present Senator Pendleton delivered in the House in 1858, defending the use of troops in Kansas and Utah. And the debate closed for the

Tuesday, May 20th The same subject was up, and Mr. Whyte of Maryland, addressed the Senate, as namely:

Mr. Whyte said the political clauses of the bill were not extensive enough qualification to suffrage, without violas and preface, and from the opening to to meet his views, which were opposed to all Federal interference, civil or military, in state affairs. In his judgment there is no such thing as national elections. Elections are either state or municipal. Senators and Representatives are agents of, and responsible to, the states. There has been no prototype for our form of government. Mr. Whyte made a constitutional and historical argument to support these views. The bill was passed, 37 years to 27

Weaver, and Yocum. A motion to reconsider and to lay that motion on the table was then made and carried by 116 to 105.

The announcement of the result was greeted with applause on the Republican side, and when Mr. Warner moved an adjournment, the motion was met with shouts of triumphant laughter on the Republican side, and by the sarcastic inquiry by Mr. Conger whether there was no remedy for these revolutionary proceedings.

The motion was agreed to-117 to 110-and the House at 4:30 p. m., adjourned.

The House resumed the consideration of the Silver bill, the pending question being upon agreeing to the fourth section amended yesterday, providing that the charges for converting gold and silver bullion into cein shall be the difference between the market value low, and a Democrat, and a bounty in New York city of the bullion and the legal tender value of the coin.

Gen. Sherman has gone to housekeeping again in Washington in Admiral Almy's former residence, but Mrs. Sherman will not mingle much in society. Secretary Sherman's family have gone to Europe for the summer. Senator Jones has given up his house, which is owned by Gen Butler, who will probably occupy it himself. Levi P. There are many pestiferous lickspittles in the Democratic party of the north, but we think it safe to say that among them all there is none so utterly despicable as Eaton, who defames and misrepresents the people of Connecticut be the difference between the market in the United States Senate. He has given abundant evidence of his disloyalty on divers occasions heretofore, but ne capped the climax yesterday in a speech which, had it been made during the war, would have sent him to Canada or Fort Lafayette. The north need not complain of the south so long as it is capable of producing such political blatherskites as this man. It has interest on both sides, and the result a duty to perform in relation to such men, and that duty is to wipe them out publican side. > The N. Y., Times gives this as its opinion of the position of the Democratic party in New York :

The situation of the Democracy of this state at present, then, is this: There is to be a straightout fight between the factions from this time forward-the issue being the control of the next state convention. Whichever faction wins, the fight will be immediately renewed, the next issue being the election of Tilden or anti-Tilden delegates to the National Convention of 1880. There is no possibility of union between the factions while Tilden remains a candidate for public office, unless it be on terms that would involve a complete back-down of the anti-Tilden faction and cover it with lasting dishonor.

George III., was fond of boiled mutton and turnips and apple dumpling. His chief drink was a cup composed of a quart of lemonade to one glass of wine. Like Napoleon, he ate with fierce rapidity. The favorite dish of of George IV., was a thick soup of crayfish. He liked, occasionally, as does Mr. Samuel Ward, liver and bacon, and tripe and onions. He latterly drank great quantities of liquors, especially black cherry brandy, which he took as a tonic for digestion weakened by years of Curacoa punch. Roast fowl and reast beef were the delicacies of William IV., and sherry his wine, which he drank from a black bottle. Believing that by cleansing the blood and building up the constitution was the only true way of banishing disease and being troubled with weakness of the lungs, catarrh, very much broken down in constitution, ac, and after trying the best phy sicians and paying out my money for many kinds of medicines advertised without finding a permanent cure, I began doctoring myself, using medicines made from roots and herbs. I fortunately discovered a wonderful Bitters or Blood Cleanser, the first bottle of which gave me new life and vigor, and in time effected a permanent cure. I was free from catarrh, my lungs became strong and sound, being able to stand the most severe cold and exposure, and I have gained over thirty pounds in weight. Feeling confident that I had made a wonderful discovery in medicine. I prepared a quantity of the Root Bitters, and was in the habit of giving them away to sick friends and neighbors. I found the medicine effected the most wonderful cures of all diseases caused from humors or scrofula in the blood. Imprudence, Bad Stomach, Weakness, Kidney Disease, Torpid Liver, &c., &c. The news of my discovery in this way spread from one person to another until I found myself called upon to supply patients with medicine far and wide and I was induced to establish a laboratory for compounding and bottling the facot Bitters in large quantities, and I now devote all my time to this business.

I was at first backward in presenting either myself or discovery in this way to the public, not being a patent medicine man and with small capital, but I am getting bravely over that. Since I first advertised this medicine I have been crowded with orders from druggists and country dealers, and the hundreds of letters I navereceived from persons cured, prove the fact that no remedy ever did so much good in each good in the good of the public and the good of the good dealers, and the hundreds of letters. I have received from persons cured, prove the fact that no remedy ever did so much good in so short a time and had so much success as the Root Bitters. In fact, I am convinced that they will soon take the lead of all other medicines in use. Nearly one hundred retail druggists, right here at home in Cleveland, now sell Root Bitters, some of whom have already sold over one thousand bottles.

whom have already sold over one thousand bottles.

Root Bitters are strictly a medicinal preparation, such as was used in the good old days of our forefathers, when people were cured by some simple root or plant, and when calomel and other poisons of the mineral kingdom were unknown.

They act strongly on the liver and kidneys, keep the bowels regular and build up the nervous saystem. They penetrate every part of the body, searching out every nerve, bone and tissue from the head to the feet cleaning and strengthening the foutain springs of life, hence they must reach all diseases by purification and nourishment.

No matter what your feelings or symptoms are, what the disease or ailments is, use Root Bitters. Don't wait until you are sick, but if you only feel bad or miserbottles.

HIDGE RUSSELL EXPOSES THE PERSON HOLDING MR. JAMES F. O'HARA'S SEAT IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES -KITCHER BAULY HURT.

Mr. Russell. I rise to several questions of personal explanation, and I will refer to the smallest and most unimportant first. It is a matter to which I would not have referred at all were it not that I am advised by my friends lities of Florida would be a little too that I should make some reference to it. as a matter of justice to myself and to the party which elected me a judge of it is any matter of any consequence to the people of this country, because I am very much inclined to think that if me, and myself.

It was stated upon this floor I believe [Mr. Bragg] and I understand that it hes been repeated since, that I was elected judge of the circuit court of North Carolina by the Republican party of the state before I had ever res ceived a law license; a statement which, however immaterial it may be regarded by those who made it, is a little defective, and the defect consists in this: North Caroline and I should not have alluded to it at all but for the reasons I

The Clerk read as follows: Now, sir, what I have to say in reply to that is simply this; if the gentleman intended to refer to any district in North Carolina as to the returning board being in the penitentiary, it is simply false and slanderous. Mr. Russell, Now, Mr. Speaker that is an exhibition of what the Yankees call "plantation manners." Mr. Davidson, (rising.) Yes sir. Mr. Russell. I am glad of it. I was not in my seat when the gentleman got after me. [Laughter.] The gentleman from Florida has taken occasion to read that sentence and to put words in my mouth which I never uttered. He has taken occasion to try to make it appear what had been said bofore on this floor, what was said by the gentleman from Mr. Hull from that state. I ask the sands. Clerk to read what the gentleman from Maine said on that occasion.

The Clerk read as follows: In the county of Brevard, which never polled over 169 votes, in the last election the Democratic candidate for Congress received 310 yotes. There were cast for him at the polls 116 votes, but the canvassing board of the county deliberately, wickedly, and designedly added 194 votes, giving him altogether added 194 votes, gi purity of elections in Florida.

Madison and Brevard counties was

So Mr. Hull himself admits that these men are in the penitentiary to-day rightfully, and that Brevard county [Mr. Shelley.] was rejected by the state canvassing board rightfully, and all he claims is that Madison county should have been rejected also.

Mr. Russell. Now, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Florida has asserted that this statement was untrue. I have not taken occasion to ascertain whether these particular individuals who committed those frauds were members of care. To study the frauds of the po-much for ordinary human life, Therefore I have not troubled myself about the party which elected me a judge of the superior court of North Carolina. I do not do so however as a matter of Lucica to myself or on the ground that I suppose with the politics of that state, Justice to myself or on the ground that says as a matter of fact that none of his returning boards down there are in the penitentiary, and that what the gentleman from Maine asserted was untrue, there is any matter of small importance then I will amend the statement in that to the country it is the biography of particular and acknowledge that they the ordinary member of Congress, like are not in the penitentiary, but they the gentlemen who have been assailing ought to be, | laughter; and by that I will stand.

I confess I was astonished that any first by the gentlemen from Wisconsin of them should ever break into the penitentiary. I should just as soon have expected to find Brother Beecher or Brother Talmage, or Moody or Sankey, or Colonel Ingersoll, or any other distinguished theologian in the penitentiary. [Laughter.] I thought that these thieves who steal elections, who steal counties and congressional disthere is not a single word of truth in it, to the penitentiary were generally sent tricts and states, instead of being sent not a word. So much for that. It is to the legislature, or put in custom well-known to be false in the state of houses occasionally—rewarded for their crimes. If these individuals down there who counted out the legally elected candidate in that district are not in the contentiary, then I take it that they are now in the eyerglades of Florida very ordinary member of Congress I awaiting that sure promotion which printed it, I said what the Clerk will will reward them meen the accession of will reward them upon the accession of the Democratic party to power. [Laughter. They are certainly in the line of

Now in regard to these returning boards in North Carolina, I desire to explain what I said about them, and I do not want any mistake in regard to boards, some of whom, strange to say, it. I know hundreds of the Democrats in the second congressional district, ever the question comes up I shall vote and many of them are among the best upon it as I believe to be right, and if men in that state. It is an unfortunate he is not eligible I will not yote to refect truth was never uttered by mortal fact, which I very much regret, that tain him in his seat. But I say that the conspirators who reverse a popular verdict of more name they are not responsible for it. than two thousand, who deliberately It is owing to the frauds that were comchange it, who counted in a man who was defeated by over 2,000 votes, are criminals and deserve a felon's doom.

Why, sir, I hold in my hand one of the tickets used in that district, to which I invite the attention of this House and the country. I want to show it as one of the curiosities of reconstruction. There it is. | Exhibiting a tisket, | Gentlemen will find a numher of these tickets on my desk, as samples, which they can examine after I get through.

Under the statute of North Carolina rickets are required to be on white paper, without device. The ticket which I hold in my hand contains a faint impression made in printing it. In cutting the paper apart the machine which rolled over it made a little imin the day for me to be bullied by ex- pression upon the paper about six or eight deep, scarcely perceptible to the eye, and they called that a device, and rejected the votes by hundreds. Again, the man's name was O'Hara, and the apostrophe after the Q was not boards, had counted him in in spite of a majority of between two and three thousand against him. He knew I never said that any of them were in the populations and the spostropic after the G was not fully made by the printing press in some places, and they rejected the tickets on that account. [Laughter on the Republican side.] In other places there penitentiasy. The Speaker. The Chair will have the same rule read as was read when the gentleman from Alabama [Mr. Shelley] was making a personal explanation a short time since. [Laughter.] Mr. Springer. I understand the rule, if the Chair pleases, very well, and it need not be read for my benefit.

The Speaker. The Chair only causes it to be read for the information of the those returning boards or not; I do not gentleman from North Carolina, as he had it read for the information of the gentleman from Alabama.

The Clerk read as follows: When the privilege of making a personal explanation is given, the member must confine his remarks to the matter upon which he has been criticised and in regard to which he has asked consent to make a personal explanation.

Mr. Springer. That is all I desire.
Mr. Russell. I notice that the gentleman from Illinois, or any other gentleman on this side, was not one-half so sensitive when the gentleman from the second Congressional district of North Carolina was putting in his evidence before that committee under the guise of a personal explanation. Possibly the gentleman from Illinois did not hear him.

to anything that was not a personal explanation. I am informed, however, that objection was made on the other side of the House. I did not make it; I was not in my seat. Mr. Russell. That reminds me that in the course of a personal explanation which he made he went on to introduce affidavits to show that the man who was elected and the man whose seat he holds and whose salary he draws was not eligible under the Constitution of the United States.

Now, sir, I desire to be distinctly understood that I do not care whether he is or not, I do not know. Whenlinian, and speaking for the people of noble old state, I desire in their name here to day to repudiate and condemn that proceeding; and I protest in their mitted in that district by which a man sits here with no more right to a seat upon this floor than that distinguished Democrat who represents the returning boards of Florida in the penitentiary at Albany, or somewhere else-no more right than that man has to a seat upon this floor. I say it is a foul blot and blur upon the escutcheon of that proud old state. And if anybody thinks I can be stopped from denouncing it by getting up here and cutting capers bea fore the country, he is very much mis-

It may be said that I am prejudging the case; that we have got no right to denounce a fraud by which a party obtained a seat in this House because we may have to sit as judges on the election. I protest that we have a right; when we know as a matter of public notoriety, what every man in America ought to know, we have a right to see to it that the country shall know it: and so far as prejudging it is concerned, I have no hesitation in saying that it not only ought to be prejudged, but it ought to be precondemned and pre-

The Ger- world. It also contains a FIRST-CLASS mania boys knew the weakness of the COMPASS, worth alone the price we charge for the Time-keeper. For Men, Boys, Mechanics, School Teachers, SOLARGRAPH WATCH is used by the Principal of the Somerville High School, and is being fast introduced into all the schools throughout the United States, and is destined to bee come the most useful Time-keeper ever invented. The SOLARGRAPH WATCH received a Mcdal at the Mechanics' Fair, at Boston, in 1878. This is no toy, but is made on scientific principals, and every one warranted to be accurate and reliable. We have made the price very low simply to introduce them at once, after which the price will be raised. The SOLARGRAPH WATCH AND CHAIN is put up in a neat outside case, and sent by mail to any address for $1.00. We have made the price so low, please send two stamps if conven-ient to help pay postage. Address plainly, EASTERN MANUFACTURING Co., Rockland, Mass.

THE GENUINE DR. C. McLANE'S

Celebrated American

WORM SPECIFIC

VERMIFUGE.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS. THE countenance is pale and lead-1 en-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vom-iting; violent pains throughout the men; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy, not unfrequent-ly tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist, DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE will certainly effect a cure. IT DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY in any form; it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

The genuine Dr. McLane's VER-MIFUGE bears the signatures of C. McLane and FLEMING BROS. on the are not recommended as a remedy "for all the ills that flesh is heir to," but in affections of the liver, and in all Bilious Complaints, Dyspepsia and Sick Head-ache, or diseases of that character, they stand without a rival.

AGUE AND FEVER.

No better cathartic can be used preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. As a simple purgative they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Each box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression Dr. McLane's LIVER PILLS.

Each wrapper bears the signatures of C. McLane and Fleming Bros. Insist upon having the genuine Dr. C. McLane's Liver Pills, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but
